Dedication

At the start of the 1982-83 school year, Mrs. Helen G. Droney took on the vital role of advisor to the Student Government, class officers, and senior class. As advisor to the student government, Mrs. Droney was a crucial factor in the success of such projects as the blood drives, Spirit Week, and Carnation Days. Her support and dedication to the government were unlimited and invaluable.

But we, the senior class of 1983 owe a special debt of gratitude to Mrs. Droney. To us, she was far more than a leader and organizer. Helen Droney was a friend and inspiration to all of us. Her door was always open, and a friendly smile greeted every visitor. Her patience and good nature inspired our confidence and appreciation. Mrs. Droney reflected the ideals of the senior class, as we reflected her exuberance and ambition. Her wit and charm brightened many a dreary day.

It is for these qualities in Mrs. Droney that we wish to dedicate the 1983 Spindle to her. We can feel nothing but love and respect for the woman who has given so much of herself to us. A part of her will leave Lowell High School with each and every member of the class of 1983. We will never forget her.

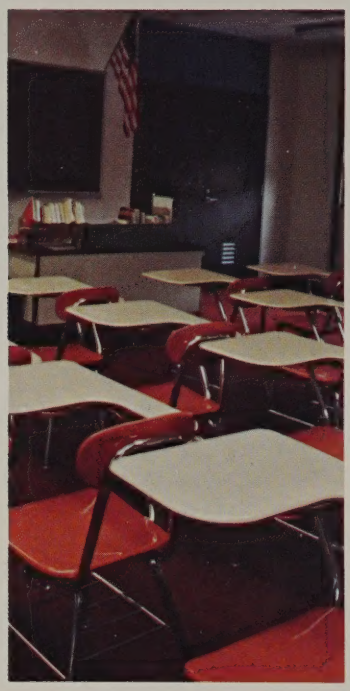
"A Day in the Life"

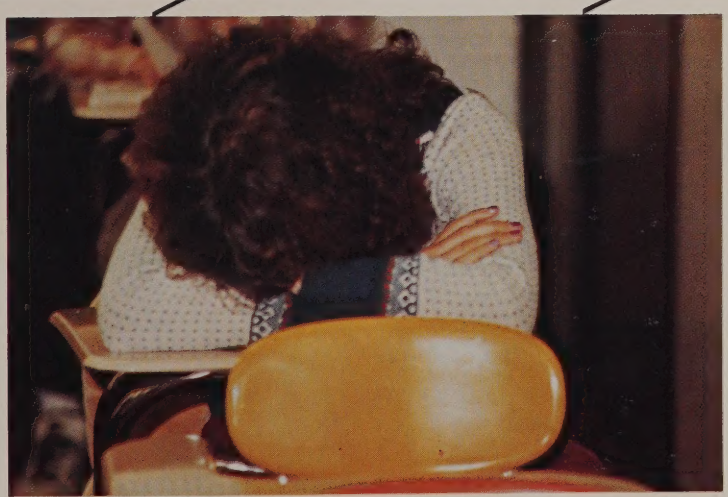
Each and every day of our high school lives has been full of problems and decisions, decisions which have affected the outcome of each day, and of our high school years as a whole. We will follow "a day in the life" of two LHS students, both of whom will make very different decisions, with different outcomes.



5:30
Buzzzzz!! 5:30 already . . . Where's the snooze button? . . .

6:00
Buzzzzz!! What a day this is going to be . . . I'd better hop in the shower, then maybe I'll eat breakfast outside. The sun's out . . . today's off to a great start!

7:00
Oh sh . . . oot! I feel like I've been fifteen rounds with Ali. How do they expect me to do schoolwork when I can't even get out of bed? I'll never make the ten past bus now . . . that's alright. I'll just take my time and go in late. I'll take a long shower and a long shh . . . oot, it's already five past. That won't work. It'll be my third time this week . . . Aargh! I can barely move . . . what the heck, some fast talking and I'll be second period bound.



7:00
I'm ready with time to spare! I guess I'll review my physics and look over stuff for my third period test. I think I'm ready for it, but I sure could use an A. Here's my bus, on time as usual. Good thing I went to bed early last night; I would have never made it otherwise.

HOMEROOM OR LATE SLIP?

I should do this more often, I tell ya, I'm just too smart for 'em. One short story about th'old furnace and I'm home free. I guess I should go to my locker . . . that can wait . . . I think I'll have a butt outside. Maybe someone will be playin' hacky-sack. I could use a good game to get me movin' this mornin'.

"Hey, whatsup? Toss that thing over here . . . does anybody know where I can get some . . . ?"

I'm psyched! Next period I can play some hoop in gym. That'll be a good way to get my blood movin' so I'm ready for my test. I can always think better after playing some basketball or running a mile or two.

So I'm a few minutes late . . . What's the big deal? My teacher's a pushover anyway . . . sh . . . t! I forgot we have a test today. One quick crib oughtta do it. Oh-oh! She's lookin' over here . . . (whispers) . . . "Hey . . . you . . . move a little to the right . . . I said move a little to the right . . ." Terrific — now she's comin' this way . . . I'm dead meat now . . . maybe if I pour on the charm? . . .

LUNCH OR HOMEROOM

CAFE OR MAC'S

9:30

Here she comes, but I'm ready this time. Go ahead, give me your hardest test. 'Cause I'm going to get an A on this test if it kills me . . . which I'm sure it will. OK, let's see . . . Ek = 1/2 MV^2, P = MV . . .

10:15
Who want's to go to Mossie's with me for a sub? . . . Hey, is it alright if I borrow a couple of bucks? Huh?

10:15
Chalk up an A for me! That studying really paid off. Now the rest of the day is a breeze. I'm glad I made two turkey sandwiches last night, that test made me plenty hungry. In homeroom I can probably start some homework and I'll be in bed early again tonight if I get enough done.

THE DAY COMES TO AN END

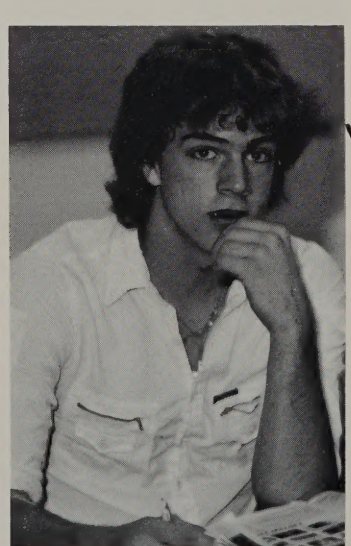
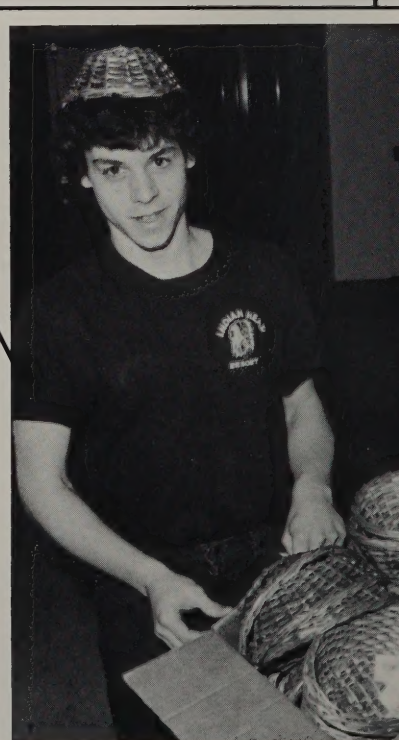
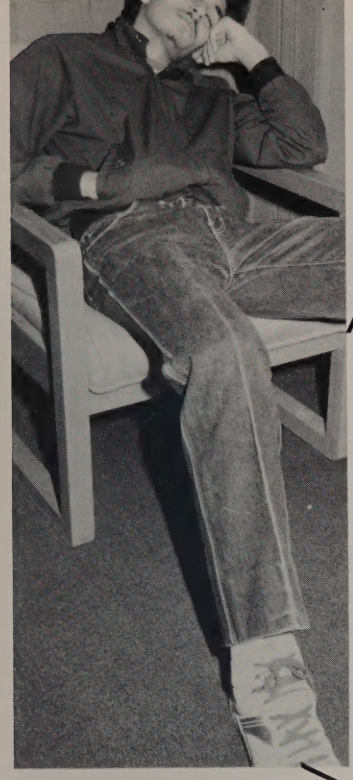
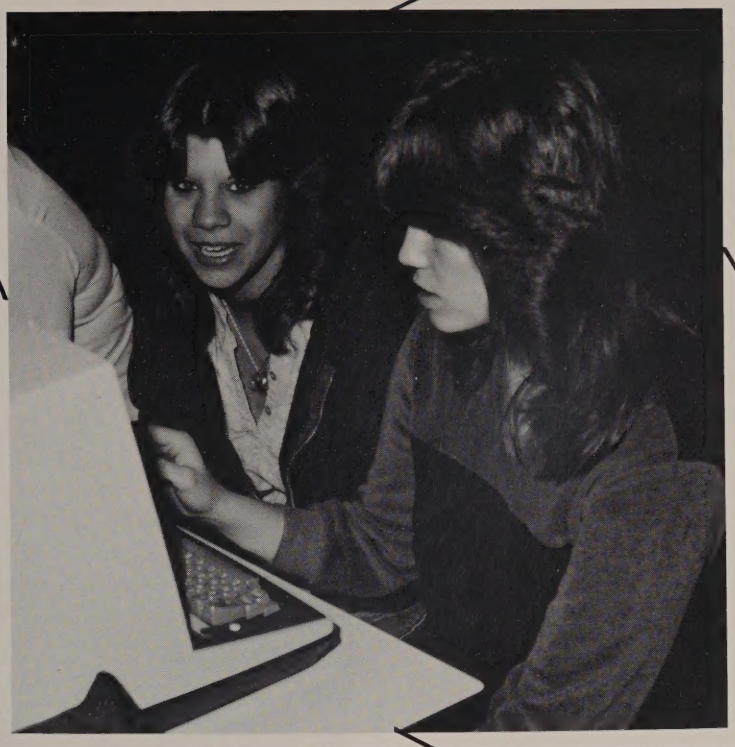
Bagged!!
"I told ya we shouldn't have come this way. Larry and Gary are always over here fourth period." If they'd only listen to me we'd never get caught . . . No need to worry . . . another tall-tale and I get off scott free.

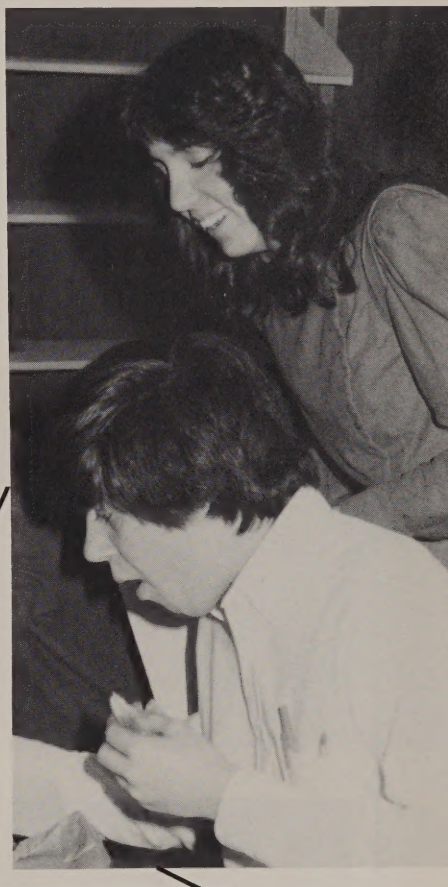


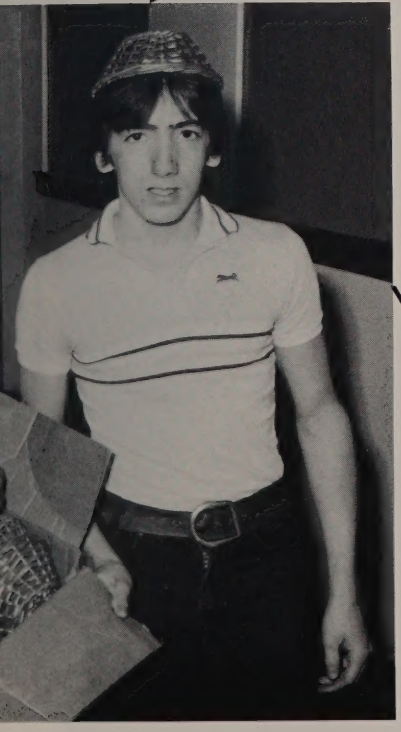


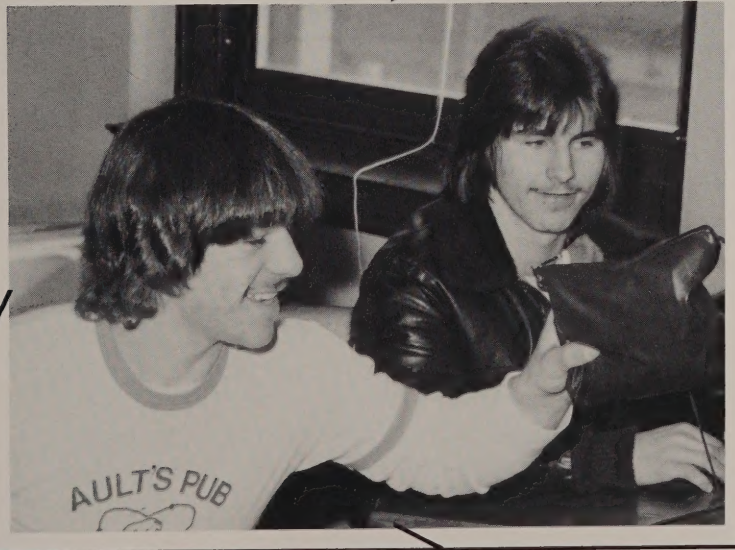




11:15
I got six nights, and indefinite if I miss one of 'em. Talk about bein' strict. All I was doin' was putting money in the meter for Mr., uh, Mr. _____.







SCHOOL'S OUT! . . . OR IS IT?

THE DAY ISN'T OVER . . .

One more period and I leave for practice outside today. It's the first outdoor practice of the year, and if the weather holds up it won't be the last.

12:45
Forget this, I'm in no mood for jumpin' jacks. I've been nabbed and have detention already, skipping gym won't make a difference . . . It can't get much worse than this. Like I said before, I'm too smart for them. That's why I ended up with just six nights instead of in-house.

TOMORROW . . .

That's one night of detention out of the way. I'm sure that after at least 3 nights they'll be easy on me and let me off. I can't wait 'til tomorrow — we're goin' to the beach for 6 or 7 periods, but I'll be back in time for detention . . . maybe.

5:30
Practices like that really make the season worthwhile. I guess today was a pretty good day, hopefully tomorrow will go as well, and the next day, and . . . I better start my homework as soon as I get home.

The Working Class

A large majority of high school students work part-time jobs during the school year. It's no different here at LHS. To varying degrees, and for a variety of reasons, almost all of us do, or have held down a job. Many work to finance a college education, others to help out at home. But almost all part-time workers use a chunk of Thursday's check as spending money. High Schoolers need cash on hand for clothes, BK runs, concerts, and of course, the infamous 3 buck minimum each weekend night. Still other workers save to buy a car or stereo.

Although part-time jobs do provide them with money, as well as new friends, responsibilities and confidence, "The Working Class" must make several sacrifices in order to successfully work a job into their schedules. A job does indeed take its toll on a student's social life and schoolwork, and in some cases denies a student participation in sports and much needed sleep.

Yet, high school students continue to work, and continue to spend. Is it worth it? That depends upon the individual. Some students are able to make it work, while others remain "parentally funded" throughout high school. But either way, we salute the "Working Class" at LHS.

What Type Are You?

At Lowell High School, there are four basic subcultures: Preps, Jocks, Disco Fans, and the Lucy Larcom Crowd. Each of these groups has its own uniform, vocabulary, and approach to life and leisure.

Are you one of these stereotypes, or are you a nonconformist? There's a quick quiz on the next page to help you determine to which group you belong.

LHS: Education Abroad

The population of Lowell High School represents a large cross section of race, nationality and culture. This population includes a number of students from foreign countries. They find the people friendly, but are often hindered by the language barrier, and sometimes not easily accepted by native students. Math, the universal language, appears to be their favorite subject.

Interesting comments made by several students involved the culture at LHS. They find the boys and girls kiss a lot more in public here. They also have trouble adjusting to the widespread profanity and to American food. The girls were, at first, embarrassed to wear slacks in school and shorts to gym. They also find Lowell High far less disciplined than their schools, where detention was not necessary.

Many students had to leave family and friends to come to the United States. Most came for a better life and education. Several of the graduating foreign students will attend Middlesex Community College in the fall, while some will return home, and still others will get married in order to remain in this country. It has been an extremely difficult experience for these students and we must all respect them for their efforts to overcome hardship, and congratulate them on their success.

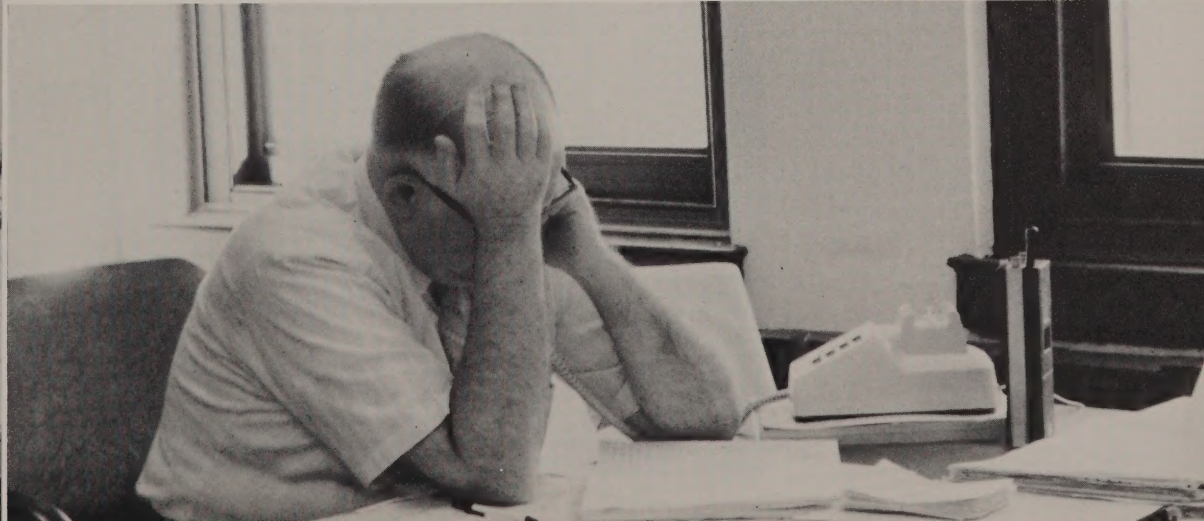
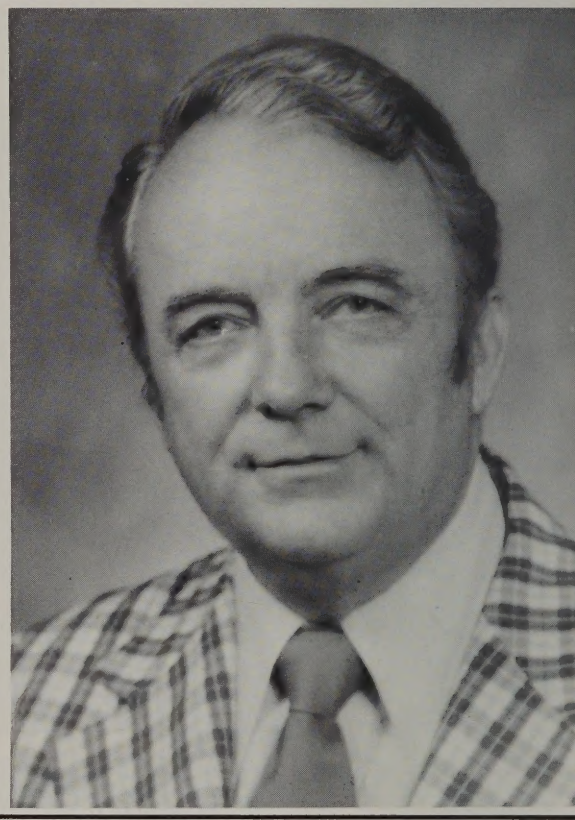
Those Who Survived The Class of '83



Henry J. Mroz, Superintendent of Schools; Helen F. Flanagan, Assistant Superintendent.

Clement G. McDonough



After more than 40 years and 20 terms as a member of the Lowell School Committee, Clement Gregory McDonough died in office last November. As a friend and proponent of public school education he is remembered in profound respect and affection for his countless contributions toward the educational welfare of children, teachers and support staff in the Lowell School System.

He either sponsored or supported every aspect of public school education in the City of Lowell whether it be new schools, curriculum improvement, pupil safety, athletics or innovative programs.

But there was also another quality to this man. His devotion to his country, the love of his City, his pride in his Irish Catholic heritage, his love of family and friends, and his sensitivity to the problems of others were well known.

He served his office with dignity, respect and honor. His only reward after 40 years of service was the inner assurance of knowing his voice on educational matters promoted a benchmark of excellence.

Headmaster

By sowing a seed once, you will harvest it once
By planting a tree, you will harvest tenfold.
By educating the people, you will harvest one hundred-fold.

These words taken from Kuan-tzu, 4th to 3rd century B.C. China, are as appropriate now as they were then. The results of the efforts which we, the teachers, together with you, the students, have made for the past 12 to 13 years cannot be fully predicted now nor ever be finally listed. Wonderful, exciting and awesome opportunities and challenges lie before you. Your record as a graduating class gives us high expectations for your future. We are confident that your formal education up to this point has provided you with the foundation for success. That foundation mixed with curiosity, interest, commitment and good productive effort will provide you with a bountiful harvest in life.

We wish you well!

Dr. Eugene N. Wood
Dean of Students

The death of Dr. Eugene Wood on March 22, 1983 is one of truly tragic proportion for his family and the students at Lowell High School. It also should be noted as a great loss to our community and to the families whom he served so effectively.

To work with Gene was a measure of professional pride for many of us. It was his absolute dedication to the most needful of our young people that gave his colleagues our greatest cause for respect.

We have been fortunate to have had such a person work with us for the past 27 years. That his boundless energies are now still does not seem fair. In our grief, we must bow and give thanks that they were available to us for such a long period of time.

We, Gene's friends and students at Lowell High School, are wealthy beyond measure for having shared our lives with him. He contributed a great deal to the student activities at the High School. Gene was a very dynamic and outgoing person who always placed his relationship with the student body first among his many achievements.

We ask that, Gene wherever he may be, may know that those who worked with him, loved and respected him for the person he was and for the exceptional quality of his professional performance.

Joseph M. Regan
Dean of Faculty

In October, 1982 through the death of the Dean of Faculty, Joseph M. Regan, Lowell High School lost a dedicated worker and a truly wonderful gentleman. Joseph Regan was an alumnus of Lowell High School, a graduate of Boston College, and a former officer of the United States Navy in World War II.

Shortly after his military service he taught first at Keith Academy and then at Lowell High School as a math instructor before he was appointed as a submaster. In 1967 Joseph Regan was elected by the Lowell School Committee as the Dean of Faculty at Lowell High School, a post at which he served with distinction until his death.

His colleagues found him to be a man of gentle spirit: he administered his duties with compassion and understanding. He was methodical, thorough and meticulous in carrying out his tasks. He served as a positive model for faculty and students alike.

Joseph M. Regan was indeed a devoted husband, a loving father, a dedicated worker and a good friend.

May his memory be eternal!

Times change and sometimes people do too (even teachers). Some of our faculty members have aged gracefully, and some haven't aged at all. We have included a few pictures from our yearbook files to illustrate this point and for you to have some fun with. See if you can figure out who the teachers are. The answers are on page 96.

Organized Chaos

Cookin' at The Courtyard

Chef Drummey and Mrs. Eileen Kane have completed their second successful year of the Culinary Arts Program. The class is limited to Juniors and Seniors only, and worth 18 credits. The students are expected to attend the class four periods a day, three of which are shop (kitchen work), and one in the classroom.

The students are taught almost every possible job concerned with the restaurant business which ranges from washing dishes to financing a restaurant.

This year saw the grand opening of the Culinary Arts restaurant, "The Courtyard," which is open to faculty members once a week. Chef Drummey promises a full-time schedule by September.

The students of the Culinary Arts Program seem to like it very much. "They enjoy the freedom of not being in a classroom all day," says Chef Steve Nalen. Senior Steve Hancock, a member of the Culinary Arts class, is going on to Johnson & Wales Culinary Arts College this September to further his talents. Steve is presently employed as a cook at the Windsor Mills in Dracut. This is just one example of the success of the program.

Some of the seniors' fondest memories are of the Toga Party that was held in the school cafe. Another memorable occasion was Mrs. Kane's cookout. "The most fun time of the year is at the end when Chef Drummey gives out the class awards. They're pretty funny," says Jim (Boley) Foley.

The students seem to enjoy the class, as do the teachers, and all expect the program to enjoy success in future years.

Band and Twirlers — A "Concert"ed Effort

Led by Drum Major Kathieann Thurston, the LHS Band performed at many events such as football games, assemblies, and parades. The Annual Concert was held in April. Patricia Annis received the Arion Award for greatest achievement in music.

To wrap up the year, the band played at area graduations and took a trip to the beach. The last event for the school year was on June 18 when they headed to Hyannis for competition.

The Majorettes performed with the band during all football games this season. They marched in five parades and attended a competition in March. They closed the year with a performance at the Annual Band Concert.

Searching for "Fame"

The Lowell High Choral Arts Dept. had a very busy '82-83 school year. Beginning their season was "Harmonies of Harvest Time," a musical — variety show. The band began the evening with their 30's and 40's "Big Band" sound. The Special Chorus took the stage to perform various upbeat tunes. Also included in "Harmonies" were talented individual singers and dancers performing such hits as "Fame," "Another One Bites the Dust," and "Cabaret."

The Christmas season was quite busy with trips to local junior highs and the Kiwanis Club, all of which culminated in a joyful Holiday Concert.

Beginning in February were rehearsals for the spring musical, always the highlight of the Chorus year. This year they performed "Finian's Rainbow" to an appreciative audience.

Finishing off the year, the Chorus sang at the Memorial Day assembly, the Lowell Choral Festival, and graduation, where the class ode was sung by the graduating seniors.

Memories of the year: December — working hard, but no school; the Christmas party for the little children — Addie made a great Santa, but the elves?

There were many "important" DECA meetings during the year, but perhaps the favorite was the St. Patrick Moorehouse Day one.

The hard work under the guidance of Dr. Moorehouse and Mr. Pizzano paid off at the competitions. Robin Bellefeuille, Steve Ford, Sandra Hand, Chris Morin, Brenda Page, Mary Rivard, and Robin Shrigley were all winners at the Districts.

They continued on to compete at the State Career Development Conference in Worcester. Brenda, Sandra, Mary, Chris, and Steve received Achievement Awards. Mary also took home a second place medal.

Diane St. Marie placed second in a written event, and Rosalie Peach and Brenda Page took first place in the Phillips 66 Free Enterprise event. Once again, Lowell High DECA brought home the first place trophy for Program Advertising.

Three Lowell students were elected Mass. DECA State officers: Cyndi Varney — State Sec/Treas., Adelino Caires — District 5 Sec/Treas., and Joanne Grenon — District 5 Chairperson.

Outstanding senior was Mary Rivard, and Cyndi Varney was the outstanding junior. The 1983 DECA scholarship was awarded to Sandra Hand.

A trip to the Nationals in New Orleans was attended by a few of the State winners and officers: Adelino Caires, Cyndi Varney, Sandra Hand, Brenda Page, Diane St. Marie, and Rosalie Peach.

Cadets Soar Through Good Year

The Massachusetts 771st AFJROTC unit completed its sixth year at Lowell High School. Being an Air Force Junior ROTC cadet is not all work. The cadets organized their annual military ball, awards banquet, and took part in activities such as parades and athletic events.

The cadets also participated in a variety of activities and field trips to local military installations and civil aviation facilities. Several cadets flew monthly refueling missions with the US Air Force over the eastern region of the US.

The cadet drill teams continually placed in the top three positions at drill meets in competition with JROTC units from throughout the New England area. The cadet basketball team went undefeated against other JROTC teams from the local area.

The cadets were also invited guests at dances and military balls sponsored by other units in Massachusetts.

Melting Pot at LHS

The International Language Club, the largest club at Lowell High School, had over two hundred members this year. Led by officers Tim Sweeney (Pres.), Gerry Chertavian (VP), Amy Woo (Sec.), and Katie Flynn (Treas.), the club had a very successful year.

ILC, now in its third year, combines what used to be the individual French, Spanish, Latin, Greek and Portuguese clubs into one coalition. It has become a tradition to begin the year with the Christmas dinner, a festivity enjoyed by all of the club's members. Then, throughout the year, each language chapter hosts a presentation which is both educational and enjoyable. For example, the Spanish Chapter invited a guest speaker who attempted to teach the guests five different languages simultaneously! After the demonstration was finished, there was plenty of Spanish and Mexican food for all.

To wrap up a great year, the ILC joined the Science Club in hosting a cookout for all members. This too may become a tradition in future years, as the club is sure to expand and improve.

The National Honor Society was established in the 1920's to recognize high school students of outstanding scholastic ability who also met the criteria of character, leadership, and service. The LHS chapter of NHS received its charter in 1927, and so has been honoring excellence in its students for 56 years.

The annual Induction Ceremony was held this year on Tuesday evening, May 10, before an audience of family, faculty and friends. NHS members received both recognition and commendation. A social hour followed in the cafeteria, and refreshments were served to the large audience attending.

JCL throws TOGA Party

The Junior Classical League once again enjoyed a successful year at Lowell High. Under the guidance of Mrs. Grace Scanlan and the leadership of President Ben Woo, Vice President Ann Machado, Treasurer Pat McCall, and Secretary Cathi Cote, the chapter of 130 members participated in such events as Classics Day at Brandeis University, the National Latin Exam, and the annual Saturnalia Dinner. Many members also traveled to Minnechaug Regional High School in Wilbraham for the JCL State Convention. Lowell placed high in many academic and athletic events, ending up with the third highest point total on the day. Sophomore Ed Fleming was elected to the Vice Presidency of the Massachusetts Junior Classical League.

Officers Active in Community

The 1983 Lowell High School Girl Officers had a very active and successful year. Led by Major Laura Guptill and Lt. Major Kathy White, the girls represented LHS at several events, and sponsored many of their own. The annual Harvest Ball was held on November 19 at the Sheraton Rolling Green. With music by Double Vision, the night was a great success.

The Girl Officers assisted the Friends of Lowell High with such projects as Parent's Night and the Christmas Circus Show. They also assisted the Lowell Sun with the city spelling bee and the Tour de Lowell Bike Race. They participated in both the Memorial Day Parade and the Lowell Plan Spring Festival, where they performed mass, club, and sword drills.

The Girl Officers closed out the year with their annual banquet and Candlelight Ceremony. At the banquet the girls were inducted into the Girl Officers' Alumnae. The Candlelight Ceremony honored the 1983-84 officers, who will carry on the Girl Officer tradition at LHS.

Library

The library internship trains students in many skills. Interns must monitor the circulation desk, write and deliver over-due book notices, keep books in their proper sections, and help students locate books and reference material.

This course is designed to provide an insight into the academic benefits of Library Science, but it also offers some surprises. A couple of animals visited the library this year — a dog, who left a little something behind as a thank you, and a sophomore boy's pet mouse. Neither seemed appreciative of the interns' hard work.

Personnel

To the members of Personnel,
Who always met their deadline;
Making endless mumbers of copies,
And delivering them on time.

From Word Processor to Printer,
No complaints to mention;
This never ending task
Receiving little recognition.

When it's all done and over,
And we've gone our separate ways,
We'll look back and wonder
Why we wasted all those days.

Picture Perfect

Anyone who ever said that publishing a yearbook is easy never worked on the LHS 1983 Spindle. Hours and hours of seemingly never ending work, after school everyday, on vacations, and even after graduation . . . all the mistakes (and erasures), worn pencils, scrap paper, lists, lists, lists . . . What ever happened to the 30-40 people that showed up at the first yearbook meeting? . . . putting up with the incredible tension of one single deadline . . . trying to give the book the little extra details that make it a professional work of art . . . working for the final deadline knowing that the relief of over a ton of pressure, and your shoulders, will be there. That's a small portion of what went into the LHS Spindle. And of course all of this would not have been possible without the always moody, but somehow loveable Jan Hylen.

The Presses Roll at LHS

After a year's absence, the Lowell High student newspaper, the Review, was back. Under the direction of advisor Ms. Jan Hylen, the staff produced five issues.

The extremely qualified (?) writing staff was faced throughout the year with the usual deadlines, badly written headlines, missing articles, misspelled names, and of course, Ms. Hylen's moods.

This was also the year that Ronnie Frechette organized a "branch" of the Review — announcements on the PA system once a week in the morning. More than just the usual reminders to students, these announcements also gave the results of sports events and other things of interest. They were casual in tone, and helped to enliven the routine PA notices.

LHS Democracy in Action

Student Government elections were held in September resulting in Brian "Red" Murphy as president, Diane Harrington as vice-president, Maura Dartley as secretary, and Michael Sullivan as treasurer.

Meetings were held every two weeks and various speakers were invited. In October, with the help of the Culinary Arts class, the Student Government sponsored its annual Spaghetti Dinner in appreciation of the teachers.

With Mrs. Droney as advisor, they also sponsored two blood banks, spirit days, and a decorating day near Christmas when each class had a hall to "deck" with Christmas scenes, crepe paper, holly, mistletoe, and Christmas trees.

The end of the year brought a cookout to show appreciation for all the hard work of the Friends of Lowell High.

"SCI & SKI"

Science Club

The Lowell High School Science Club had a very busy year, taking many field trips and participating in many events. Earlier in the year the members of the Club went to Wang Laboratories on Pawtucket Boulevard, where they were taken on a tour of the building.

In March the First Annual LHS Science Fair was held in the Science Labs. Mark Pearsall and Louis Maggio took home first place while Beth Welch and Amy Annaldo took second and third. The club also participated in the State Science Fair at Massachusetts Institute of Technology on April 30, 1983. The year was closed with a trip to the Museum of Science and a cookout. All involved learned that Science CAN be fun.

Ski Club

The highlight of the 1983 Lowell High School Ski Club was the infamous trip to Lake Placid, New York. The fourteen members who dared to challenge the slopes spent five nights at The Lake Placid Resort, with four full days of skiing. The skiers enjoyed the slopes of Gore and Whiteface Mountains, the site of the 1976 Olympics.

In addition to skiing, many activities were scheduled, such as snowmobiling and parasailing, as well as dances in the Resort's own disco to fill the evenings. The trip was very successful, and the many memories of Placid '83 will remain for a long time, with those who participated.

How Do We Spell RELIEF?

Striking Gold with "Finian's Rainbow"

On Friday, April 29, the Lowell High Performing Arts Department, under the direction of B. Douglas Townshend and Michael L. Sokolowski, performed the Harburg and Lane musical "Finian's Rainbow."

"Looking to the Rainbow" were Joseph Moore as Finian McLonergan, Maria Harvey as his daughter Sharon, and Patrick Gagnon as Woody Mahoney. Robert Orr was lively as Og, the mischievous leprechaun, and dancing the part of mute, graceful Susan was MaryEllen LePage.

The musical told of a transplanted leprechaun and his pot of gold, hidden in beautiful Rainbow Valley. A slightly tipsy Irish immigrant finds it, and the leprechaun starts to become mortal. The story was aided by the spirited dancing of the "southern belles-turned-Irish lassies." Freshman Joseph Ortiz had the role of Senator Rawkins, who, through a misdirected wish, turns black.

Set designers Daniel Bedard and Fred Gallagher did a wonderful job on the scenery, as did Lynne Lombard, the stage manager.

Being in a musical takes a lot of hard work, patience and dedication, but when it all culminates in a success like "Finian's Rainbow," both cast and audience agree it was well worth it.

LHS Spirit Comes on Strong

Lowell High began a new tradition this year with "Spirit Day of the Month." On the last Wednesday of each month, students were urged to show their style by dressing in particular themes.

Days such as Hat Day, Sweats Day and the biggest celebration of all: a decorating contest at Christmas, were just a few demonstrations of LHS spirit. At Christmas, each class decorated their respective corridors in the best way they could. The day was great fun for everyone!

In March, the annual Spirit Week was held. Each class chose their own day and a theme was depicted for each. They were: Bandanna and Shades Day, Sports Day, Hawaiian Day, Tie Day, and T-shirt/Shorts Day. Many people participated and everyone had a great time.

Rolling at the Sheraton Green

Each year the Harvest is the predominant topic of conversation from the time the school year begins. This year was no exception. The halls were filled with girls asking: "Who are you gonna ask?" and "did you get your gown yet?" Meanwhile boys demanded: "how much will this cost anyway?"

As the day approached, plans finally took shape and talk turned to Pre-Harvest parties. When November 19th finally arrived, everyone "found their way" to the Sheraton Rolling Green in Andover. After waiting in what seemed an endless line for pictures, there was dancing to the music of Double Vision.

The night was enjoyable, but was over almost before it seemed to have started, passing in a "blur" for many. When the night of dancing, socializing and picture-taking was over, everyone left with memories of a night that will not soon be forgotten.

Bloomin' Mad!

The Lowell High Student Government "planted" themselves in the thick of things with the Annual Carnation Days on Saint Valentine's Day and Saint Patrick's Day.

With the help of many students, carnations were ready to order a week before Valentine's Day for 50¢ each. Some went to "sweethearts," others just friends. When the big day came around, red, pink, and white carnations were delivered to homerooms. The recipient paid 25¢ to find out who sent the flower.

For Saint Patrick's Day, cards and envelopes were filled out the week before, and delivered on the 17th with green carnations.

It's not all as easy as it sounds. All together the students sold almost 2500 carnations. That's nothing to sneeze at! Of course, without Mrs. Droney and the Student Council, none of this would have been possible. The whole "bloomin' mad" bunch did a great job.

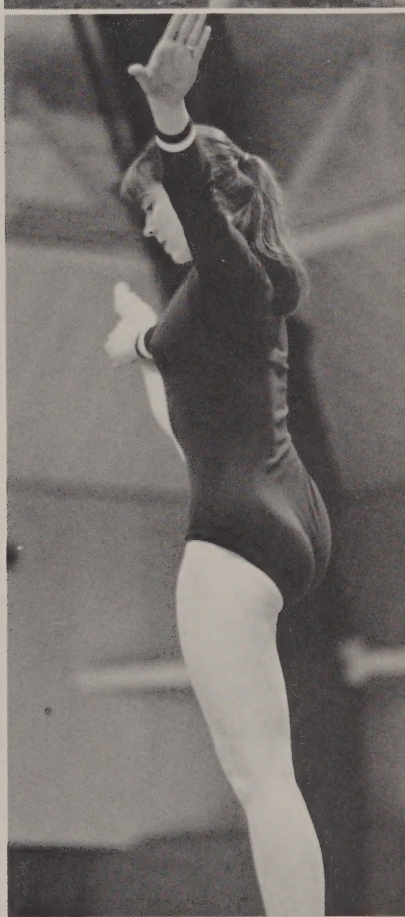
The Games We Played . . .



. . . and balloons filled the air.

Homecoming '82 was one never to be forgotten. Homecoming Queen Kristin Achin ruled over the evening with her court of Cheryl Hamilton, Amy Lekites and Carol Tremblay.

The evening began with a parade from Lowell High to Cawley Stadium. The parade was made up of the Royal Convertible, an antique car and two dozen cars full of carousing Homecomers. Balloons filled the cool Autumn air, tied to every available hand, along with pom-poms and banners waving in the October breeze.

The game was kicked off and played in what has become the typical rough and tumble LHS style. "It was a great team effort," commented Head Coach Walter Nelson, citing tenacious defense as the difference in the Raiders'

16-0 victory over arch rival Chelmsford. Highlighting the win for Lowell were a fumble recovery by Kevin Slattery on the Lions' three, a Shaun Santos interception, and the fourth quarter "Tighe to Smith" connection for a 22-yard touchdown.

Pre-game ceremonies consisted of the presentation of awards to Senior players and their parents, by Headmaster Peter Stamas. At halftime, Kristin Achin and her court were escorted by ROTC cadets to their coronation at mid-field.

Homecoming, 1982 saw the Red Raiders at a 5-0 mark, and off to one of their finest starts ever.

Hawg Wild Again!

After losing many of the "hawgs" (the offensive line) to graduation, it was wondered if Lowell High could do it again. Well, that wonder turned into positive thinking by the first week of October.

The Red Raiders had a great season in the MVC, with a mark of 8-2 and a share of second place in the final standings. The success was summed up by many as a great team effort, with both offense and defense (the "Lynch Mob") contributing to each win. The defensive squad was exceptional, allowing only 39 points in the ten game season.

There were many outstanding individual performances as well. Defensive Standout John Galvin was named team MVP, while the Coach's Award went to Quarterback Dan Tighe. Louie Galvao received Most Improved Player Award and Shaun Santos, The James Liston Award for outstanding defensive play. Other award recipients were, George Dokos (Janas Award), and Captain Kevin Slattery (Riddick Memorial Trophy). Chris Smith, Mike Nison, James Cooper, Jim Keefe, and Walter Wrobel all won awards for their outstanding efforts in the Thanksgiving blow out of Lawrence.

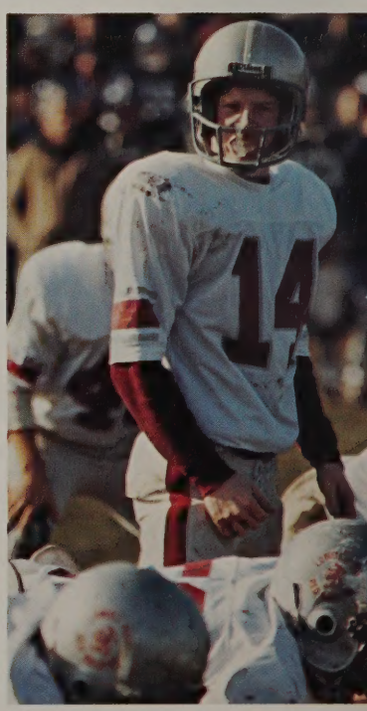
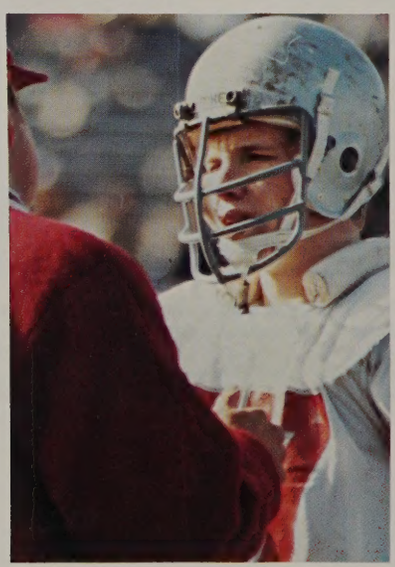
Raiders Go Out in Style!





Clockwise from top right: Jim Cooper finds a hole; play action; Tighe calls the signals; Coach Nelson; John Galvin; Lisa Gwiazda and Carolyn Benoit.

It was perfect football weather. The sky was blue, the air was crisp, and boy, was it COLD! Thanksgiving '82 was played as though it were the days of Ray Riddick once again.

Over 8000 spirited fans braved the cold to support the players in the 86th edition of the ancient Turkeyday Classic. Support was strong with rousing cheers and banners waving. Signs along the highway and a scarecrow in a Lawrence uniform hanging from McDonald's showed the boys everyone was out there for them . . .

LHS captured its finest football season in twelve years by destroying the Lancers 36-0. The "Lynch Mob" held Lawrence to only 96 total yards, and forced five turnovers. Revenge of the big loss last year, was assured by the running performances of Jim Cooper and Wally Wrobel, who combined for 240 yards rushing. John Galvin's interception and Quarterback Dan Tighe's 18-yard "bootleg" tally also highlighted Lowell's romp over Lawrence.

The win was a great end to an awesome season, as the Red Raiders went out in style . . .

Soc it to 'em

The Lowell High School Soccer Team finished the 1982 season with a respectable 8-7-3 record. The Red Raiders finished fourth in the tough Merrimack Valley Conference under the fine coaching of John Bertos.

After an impressive start, the squad was unfortunately plagued by both injuries and much controversy. Nevertheless, the soccer team had many outstanding games under the leadership of Captains Albino Espinola, Rui Machado, Dionisio Gil, and Martin Hernandez.

Albino's final year was nothing short of spectacular. Not only was he an MVC All-Star and Lowell Sun All-Star, but he also led the conference in both goals and total points. Halfback Martin Hernandez, forward Sergio Coehlo, and fullback Rui Machado were also honored as both MVC and Lowell Sun All-Stars.

At the Fall Sports Banquet, Espinola was named Most Valuable Player, while fullback Dionisio Gil received the Coach's Award, and goalkeeper Chris Porter, who posted six shutouts on the season, was presented with the Most Improved Player Award.

Spirit and Pep Spark Raiders

The year began in a claustrophobic wrestling room as seventy nervous girls strived to achieve perfection. The atmosphere was intense throughout the competition. Gwaz, Sheila, Joanne, Mel, Kelly, Mauz, Jill, Erin, Maryann, Katie, Laurie, Kristine, and alternate Kris were the lucky girls chosen to represent the Red Raider cheering squad.

Over the summer, the girls journeyed to Brown University to attend a cheerleading camp sponsored by the New England Cheering Association. The girls showed an enormous amount of spirit and pep. They were presented with numerous awards, including a blue ribbon in the final competition, and they were named Grand Champs!

This year's pep rallies had everyone rockin' to the beat of the "Casbah" and ignited the football team to a victorious season.

The basketball season gave the girls much to cheer about and ended the year with many memories.

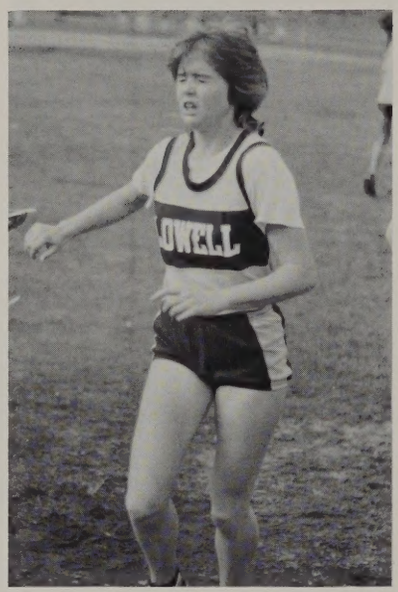
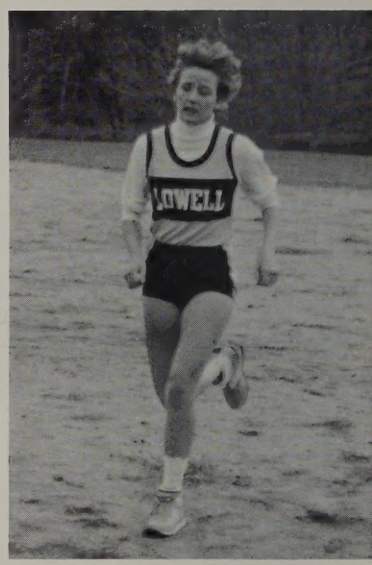
The Cheerleaders weren't the only ones with spirit this year. Fan support was the best ever, as thousands turned out, responding to the cheerleaders and the teams with enthusiasm and gratitude. The fans got something to cheer for, and the players got the support they needed for success.

Girls Race to Best Season Ever

The 1982 Girls' Cross Country Track Team completed its most successful season in the history of Lowell High School. A credit to Coach Jim McGuirk, his girls finished the season with a super 7-1 record. They finished fourth in the State Meet and Third in the Bedford Invitational.

Several outstanding individual efforts highlighted the success of the team. Senior Tri-Captains Laura Balamotis, Lisa Jacques, and Shelly Mondou all turned in fine performances on the season, and all placed high in the State Meet.





Freshman Carol Tremblay was the big surprise, consistently finishing third for the Raiders. Along with Carol, freshman Keri Regan turned in a fine season. Both girls placed well in the State Meet.

Award winners for the Red Raiders were: MVP — Lisa Jacques, Coach's Award — Laura Balamotis, Most Improved Runner — Meghan McCabe.

Boys CC Paces MVC

With Senior Bob Powers leading the way, the Lowell High Boys' Cross Country track team sped toward a more than satisfying record of 6 wins and 3 losses. Through inclement weather and such, our long distance runners gave their all in a winning effort. Bob showed the MVC what he was made of by making the MVC All-Star team, winning Lowell High's Most Valuable Runner award, and by finishing eighth in the Mass State Tourney.

Other seniors Paul McCarthy and Steve Limperis also had successful seasons for Coach John Lang. Dave Landry, Matt Kenney, and Chris Dougherty (all juniors), ran with consistency as did the entire team. Sophomore Luis Rios showed much potential this season.

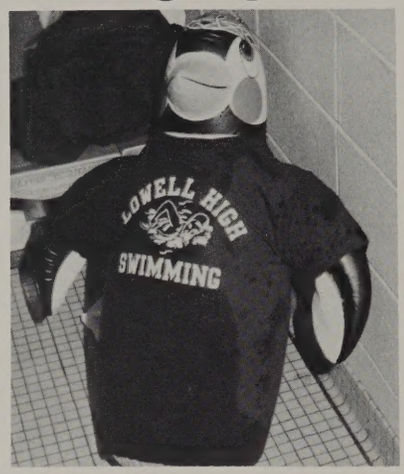
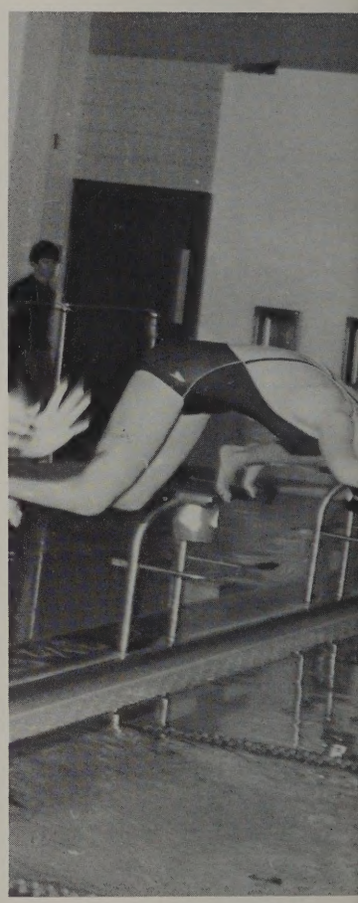
Girls Make Big Splash

The LHS Girls Swim Team completed its first "real" season with an impressive record of 6-3. All the girls had outstanding performances, but it would not have been possible without Coach Roseanne Riddick's "fun" practices, time spent in the weightroom and the enthusiasm, spirit, and determination of each and every one of the girls.



A few of the girls represented Lowell at the Sectional Meet. Among them were Co-captain Gail Reynolds, Sara Burns, Julie Burns, Cathi Cote, Lisa Kunzler, Tara Donahue, and diver Kelly Flynn.



A select few from this group qualified to participate in the State Meet. These girls should be given credit for swimming on the night of the Harvest.

Awards presented at the end of the season were: Coach's Award — Co-captain Gail Reynolds, MVP — Cathi Cote, Most Improved — Lisa Kazanjian. Other girls earned their varsity letters.

Bump, Set, Spike

Coach Suzanne Olsen's 1983 Volleyball squad went through a rebuilding process this season, having lost nine varsity players from last year's team through graduation. Although their record didn't indicate it, the team steadily improved throughout the season, and could surprise the MVC next season.

Some of the Raiders' high points were a victory over Andover, a close game with a tough Billerica team, and outstanding efforts against both Methuen and Wilmington.

At the Fall Sports Banquet, junior spiker Shirley Souza was honored as the team's Most Valuable Player. Senior Captain Janet Bisson received the Coach's Award, and junior setter Anne Marie Hickey was the Most Improved Player.

There will only be two seniors lost to graduation this year: Pam Morin and Captain Janet Bisson. Coach Olsen holds high hopes for upcoming years.

Fire on Ice

The Raiders skated to a 5-4-1 overall record this season. The team had quite a few breathtaking games, including those against Dracut and Tewksbury.

The icemen were led by senior captains Kenny Silva and Dave Desmond, alternate captains Laval Blanchette and Phil Perrin. The leading scorer for Coach Robinson was sophomore Jay Freitas.

The 1982-83 season was goalie Ken Silva's year as he was named to the Lowell Sun's All-Star hockey team, received the MVP All-Star, and Abraham awards. Defensemen Dave Desmond and Phil Perrin were also named to the Sun's All-Star team and both received All-Star awards.

Other award recipients were: Laval Blanchette (Coach's and LHS award), Jim McMenimen (7th Player), Tom Witts (Unsung Hero), Dave Hutcheson (Student award), and Mike McGovern (Courage award).

Sophomore Jay Freitas received two awards: the All-Star and High Scorer. The Alumni awards went to sophomore Kevin Lynch and freshmen Chris Roy and Rich Ladd. In Search of a Perfect "10"

The 1982-83 season proved to be a very successful one for the Girls Gymnastics Team. The girls ended up with an 11-2 record overall, with a 5-1 mark in MVC action, which was good enough for second place.

Senior Co-captains Kathieann Thurston and Claire Royer were valuable assets to the team, as were seniors Donna Cahill and Barbara McLaughlin. Their talent, combined with experience and perseverance contributed greatly to the team's success.

The lone setback for the Raiders came when Royer was sidelined with an injury. Yet her teammates worked even harder, and the team really pulled together, qualifying for the Sectional Meet.

Boys Shine Indoors

The Boys Indoor Track Team finished out a fine season with a 5-3 record and placed third in the Merrimack Valley Conference Meet behind Methuen and Chelmsford. The team had a lot of depth and young talent, especially in the middle distances. In the 300 yard dash junior Chris Savard and freshman Elijah Doby were standouts, as were junior Dan Sullivan and sophomore Bob Ogden in the 600. Senior and four year varsity standout Paul McCarthy and Senior Shaun Santos paced the way in the 1000 yard run.

The Raiders also found success in the 50 yard dash with Seniors Dave Murphy, Roberto Baez and Wally Milinazzo. Baez and Milinazzo were also devasting in the shotput. Sophomore Oscar Gutierrez was joined by seniors Steve Limperis and Dave Blazon carrying the team in the high jump and high hurdles. Senior Co-Captain Bob Powers once again paced the team in the mile and 2 mile runs, with a personal record of 9.46 in the deuce.

Outside dual meet competition, Lowell once again did a commendable job. Savard was the MVC champ and sixth in the state with a 33.4 clocking.

Ogden was the Northern Area Champ and second in the MVC with a 1.17. McCarthy won the MVC, placed third in the Northern Areas, and fourth in the state at 2.18.

Overall, Lowell's biggest success of the season was the mile relay squad which was tops in the MVC.

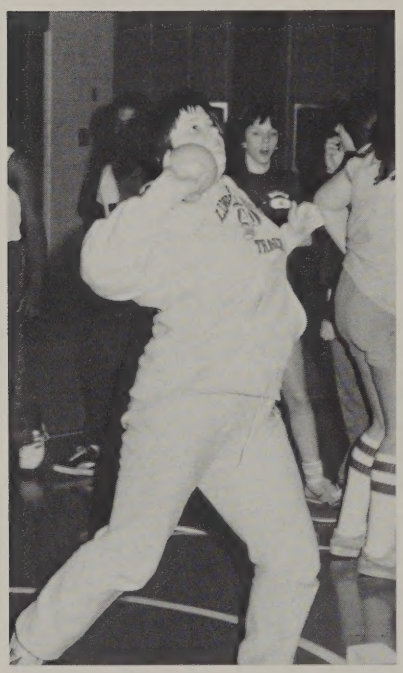
Best in MVC

The 1982-83 Girls Indoor Track Team finished the year with the MVC Championship under its wing. Thanks to the guidance of coaches Jim McGuirk and Walter Nelson, the girls finished up the season with only one loss.

Much of the credit was given to Senior Captains Gail Reynolds, Shelly Mondou, Lisa Jacques and Laura Balamotis. Other seniors Sheila Brown, Janet Bisson, Diane Harrington and Chris Conlon also helped the Lowell cause.



Team accomplishments this year were also outstanding. The Raiders won the MVC Championship Meet, placed fifth in the Methuen Invitational, fifth in the State Relays, and took ninth in the State Meet. Also this season, many school and personal records were broken, and new marks set.

Receiving awards at this year's banquet were, Amy Lekites (Most Improved), Janet Bisson (Coach's Award), and Gail Reynolds (MVP). Reynolds and Bisson were also named to the Sun All Star Team.

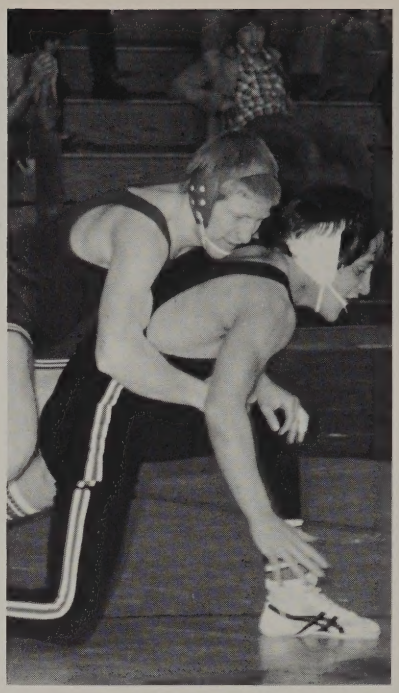
Grapplers Rebuild

The LHS 1982-83 Wrestling team competed in 15 dual meets, in which they compiled a 9-6 record in meets overall. Although the season was not as spectacular as past seasons the Red and Gray matmen turned out the "Fantastic Five" who consisted of sophomore Scott Taylor (100 lbs.), senior Tim Golden (107 lbs.), senior Dan Shanley (114 lbs.), and senior Captains Pat Ryan (128 lbs.) and Pat Coughlin (134 lbs.).

At the Lowell Holiday Tournament, the Raiders placed 8th as a team. Individually, Shanley, Coughlin and Tom Mayrand (148) took seconds, while Ryan, Taylor and Mike Siopes (143) all took fourths.

In the sectionals, Taylor, Golden, Shanley and Coughlin all placed second, with Ryan earning a third place finish. All five qualified for the State Tournament, where Golden and Coughlin were runners-up, with Ryan and Shanley taking thirds, and Taylor fourth. With their fine showings, Golden and Coughlin earned spots in the New England's. Coughlin placed third and Golden fourth.



At the Winter Awards Banquet, individual awards went to Tim Golden (MVP), Capt. Pat Ryan (Coach's Award), and Capt. Pat Coughlin (Most Improved).

Although the grapplers didn't have the outstanding year that we've been accustomed to, Raider fans can be proud of the fine effort and success that came from the team this year. It was a rebuilding year, and Coach George Bossi has high hopes for the team in upcoming years, with many young prospects and returning talent.

Boys Off the Block

The Lowell High Boys Swim Team made a big splash in this, its debut season in the MVC. Under the direction of Coach Kevin Noa, the Raiders finished up with a 5-1 record. This was good enough for a second place finish in the tough MVC, as LHS was beaten only by the undefeated Chelmsford squad. The Raiders also placed second in the MVC Conference Meet, again second to the Lions.

Raider standout Brian Gauthier qualified for the State Meet, while LHS sent a relay team to the Sectionals. Award winners this year were Co-captain Brian Gauthier — Most Valuable Swimmer, Co-captain Tim Sweeney — Coach's Award, and Wilfredo Rosado — Most Improved Award.

Other Raider standouts were seniors Tony Zaharoolis, Chris Porter and Brian Murphy, as well as underclassmen Steve Bernadini, Dave Landry, Sergio Coehlo, Kevin Foley, Richard Dooley and Tom Tiano.

Hoopsters Show Fine Effort

Although the effort of this team did not produce success in the 1983 season, there are strong possibilities that next year they will produce the season they are capable of. Led by senior Co-captain Kim Huard and junior Co-captain Rhonda Lananiri, the team put forth a great effort which did not show in the record of 4-16.

The awards given out at the Winter Sports Banquet were MVP — Belinda Lucas, Most Improved — Stacey Deveres, Coaches Award — Kim Huard, Top Foul Shooter — Reven Oliver, One on One Champ — Belinda Lucas.

The future looks bright with so many talented underclassmen returning in upcoming seasons. Coach Bob Boehm is confident that the girls will improve with each season, and will enjoy the success that the team has had in the past.

. . . and the Ball Goes Round

The Lowell High School Boys Basketball team came closer to the State Championship than any Raider Team since 1967.

They opened the season by winning the Christmas tourney, beating Billerica in the final. Ramon "Chung" Rivera was chosen MVP of the tournament. Derek Oliver and Rufus Woods were also chosen as tourney all-stars.

At the end of the regular season the Raiders were 12-4, which gave them a 2nd place finish in the MVC Large School Division.

Two new LHS records were set this season. Rufus Woods established a new fieldgoal record at 63%. Tri-Captain Steven Montminy completed 83% of his free throws for the second new mark.

Rufus Woods was also chosen to play in the "Best 45" Senior All-Star State Tournaments. He was the first player ever chosen from Lowell High School.

Award recipients at the Winter Banquet were: Rufus Woods (Bigelow MVP), Chung Rivera (MVP), Bob Chandler (Coach's Award), Tri-Capt. John Geary (Coach's Award), James Slattery (Most Improved). Rufus Woods, Derek Oliver and Ramon Rivera were also chosen as members of the Sun All-Star Team.

Alumni Overpower Varsity; Faculty Too Old

A heavily muscled and slightly overweight group of alumni upset this year's state tournament varsity basketball team (17-5) 58-51, before an overflow crowd of 1,500 fans in the LHS fieldhouse.

In earlier games, a valiant but poorly conditioned faculty team fell victim to the passage of time and the swiftness of youth as they were overrun by the MVC JV champs (19-0), 42-32, while the freshmen squeezed by a determined junior high all-star team, 28-25.

Winning Isn't Everything

The LHS Girls Softball Squad had a somewhat disappointing '83 season. The girls finished up with a 5-9 record. However, the future is promising, with most varsity players returning next year. The 3 varsity seniors — co-captain Jan Bisson (catcher), co-captain Kim Huard (shortstop), and Lisa Boucher (in the outfield) — will be sorely missed.

The Most Improved Award went to junior centerfielder Lauri Quigley, with Huard and Bisson receiving Coach's Awards. Kim Walsh, junior leftfielder was named an MVC All-Star, and Bisson, for the second year, was selected to the elite MVC All-Conference Team.

Six Close Shaves Mean .500 Season

The 1983 Lowell High Baseball Team had a somewhat disappointing season this spring, yet there were some positive results. Captains Ken Gys and Dave Murphy led the Raiders through a rocky season, dropping six one-run games, to finish with a 9-9 record. The loss of Pat McNamara (injured) for the entire season greatly hurt the pitching staff.

The Raiders produced some great personal efforts such as Wally Milinazzo's success at the plate and Pat Maguire's pitching. Wally led the team in batting with a .333 mark, as well as leading the Raiders in runs and hits. Pat pitched brilliantly, finishing up with a 5-2 record and a 1.80 ERA. The performance of Lowell's underclassmen, Pat Maguire, Bob Swan, Tom Broderick, and Chris Riley, was encouraging and something to look forward to in 1984. Senior Ken Machado had a good season also, pitching his way to a 2.60 ERA.

At the Awards Banquet three Coach's Awards were given to Wally Milinazzo (batting), Pat Maguire (pitching), and Bob Swan for leading the squad with 19 RBI's.

Girls "Love 15" Wins

The Lowell High Girls Tennis Team completed its most successful season in 1983 by winning 15 and losing only three. They finished second in the MVC and qualified for the first time for the State Team Championships. Although losing in the first round to Dover-Sherborn (3-2), the Raiders will have a good shot next season, as five letter winners will be returning.

Senior Co-captains Diane Harrington and Kathleen Boyle will be sorely missed as they had been the mainstays for the past four years. However, Lowell is fortunate in being able to return its number one, Amy Woo, and number two, Kelly Flynn, as well as the outstanding doubles tandem of junior Carrie Powers and freshman Reven Oliver. The other returning starter is Sandi Petullo, who was a league all-star.

The awards banquet saw the Most Improved Player Award go to Carrie Powers who moved up from the JV's to become a starter. The Coach's Award went to Co-captain Diane Harrington for four years of dedicated play. The final award — the MVP Award — went to Co-captain Kathy Boyle and Sandi Petullo, who were voted the outstanding doubles team in the MVC.

Kings of the Court

The 1983 Edition of the Lowell High Boys Tennis Team volleyed their way to a fine season. Each player did a great job, producing personal and team success, and a 12-7 overall record. Gerry Chertavian was spectacular playing No. 1 singles. Pat McCall, Peter Kokas and Jimmy O'Brien also shined in the singles' court. The doubles combinations of Robillard/Violette and Woo, and O'Brien/Panessiti also played well, contributing substantially to the team's success.

Bob Violette was a pleasant surprise for Coach Charlie Shadan, as his game improved on all levels. Bob received the Most Improved Award for his fine effort. The Most Valuable Player Award went to Gerry Chertavian and the Coach's Award was given to Jimmy O'Brien who, now in his sophomore year, has completed two years of outstanding play on the varsity level.

Coach Shadan summed up the season with the following words: "The tennis team had an outstanding year — well played. Everyone played up to his potential and fulfilled every expectation I had."

Girls Leg it to Personal Bests

Despite losing four of their nine dual meets, the girls track team had a good season. Many personal bests were attained by the girls. A team effort with both the girls and the boys teams combined to win the Lawrence Triple Classic.

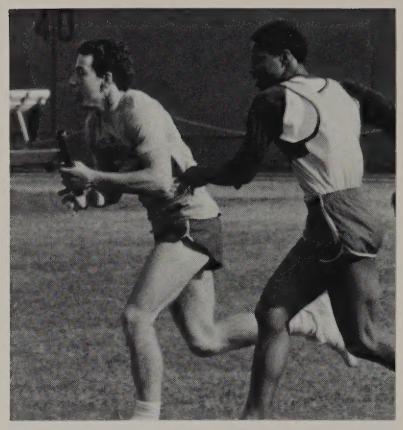
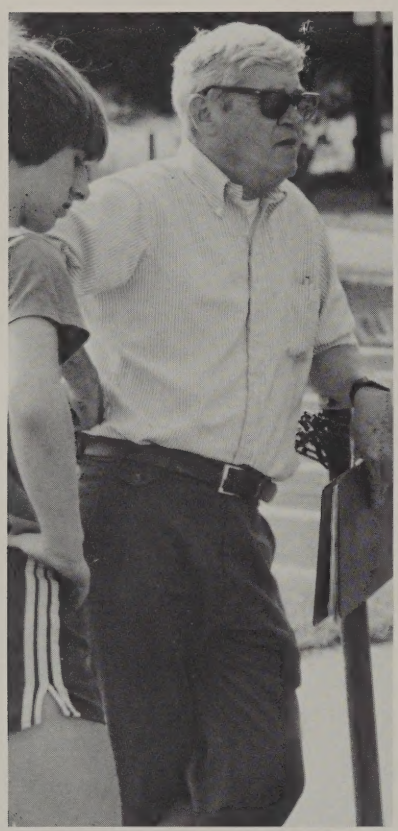
A Dreary Record for a Dismal Season

The fate of the '83 Boys Outdoor Track season was reflected in the weather this spring. The boys sloshed through dismal weather to a dreary 2-6 overall record.

Yet despite limited success on the team level, several personal bests were achieved this spring.

Captain Paul McCarthy reached his peak in the 880 yard run, stopping the clock at 1:56. Junior Chris Savard tied the record in the 100 yard dash with a time of 10.2 seconds. Senior Bob Powers was also outstanding, reaching his personal best with a 9:46 clocking in the two mile.





Other varsity letter winners this year were: Matt Kenney, Dave Sullivan, Steve Limperis, Bob Ogden, Roberto Baez, and Dan Sullivan. Awards went to Paul McCarthy (MVP), Steve Limperis (Most Improved), and Bob Powers (Coach's Award).

Sports — Are They Worth It?

Participating in sports at the high school level is not as easy as it seems. Practices, meets, and games cut into the student athlete's social life, and it is practically impossible to hold down a job at the same time. Some coaches put their athletes on strict weight and excercise programs which critics say can be too strict. Students can also be subjected to pressures and the agony of defeat.

However, there are benefits to be obtained from participation in sports. Discipline, team work, friends, fun, the thrill of victory, and the feeling of accomplishment are all to be listed on the positive side. Sports can be a healthy part of high school education, and an outlet from classroom pressures.

Sports — are they worth all the blood, sweat, and tears?

"ONWARD WE GO"

As we think back now on our high school years
Our eyes need not brim with tears
'Cause when we remember our friends and our past
We have to be glad that our memories will last.

Now we are on our way
Following separate paths
What has tomorrow in store for us all?
Will our dreams come true?

Now we are on our way
Following separate paths
Hoping, planning and striving
Onward we go.

As we look forward to what lies ahead
The future looks vast and bright
Though we seem to differ in myriad ways
We all have a goal and we aim to succeed.

to the ideals you teach us Through and through.

YOU WANT IT WHEN?

Well, we've finished. Endless hours of work have gone into the completion of this, the 1983 LHS Spindle, one which we feel is the best. At this time we, the editors, would like to thank all those who have made our success possible. Our first, and biggest, thank-you goes to Ms. Jan Hylen who, in her last year as advisor, has been invaluable and unlimited in her dedication to the yearbook. Contrary to popular belief, she really isn't that moody.

We'd also like to thank the coaches and club advisors who have generously supplied us with information and identification of pictures. We'd also like to thank a very few students who have worked long and hard on the Spindle — the rest of the small staff with special thanks to Barb McLaughlin and Rachel Baribeault who came in the entire month of June to help. Thanks also to Mrs. Stephanie Donahue for all her help, especially on the collage.

The cooperation of many students and teachers must also be noted. Many students, too many to mention, have contributed articles to this yearbook, while teachers have yielded their schedules to allow students time to work on the Spindle.

We've had a great time (most of the time) working on the 1983 Spindle, and we hope you enjoy it as much as we have.
